Community Engagement: the University of Iowa and communities (local, state, national, global) working side by side in mutually beneficial partnerships, exchanging knowledge and resources, jointly defining problems and creating solutions.

1. Community Engaged Teaching & Learning
   - Workshops, trainings, and online informational resources for faculty and students in community engaged learning courses
   - Partnership connections with communities and organizations locally and across the state

2. Community Engaged Research
   - Connecting faculty, staff and students with other researchers and community partners
   - Assisting with funding applications through letters of support, project development and “broader impacts”

3. Building Partnerships Across Iowa and Beyond
   - Establishing relationships with communities, organizations and entities that serve as partners for engaged teaching and learning and engaged research

4. Promoting Engagement Across Campus
   - Telling stories of the impact of engagement on UI faculty, staff, students and community partners
